SUBJECT:

I am very concerned about the issues with CNG vehicles. I understand that non-EPA certified vehicles may become illegal, is that true? There were so many installation places installing these kits statewide a few months ago and now they have all seemed to vanish. People paid thousands of dollars for the conversions not knowing that it was going to be an issue because the shops did not state this. In hindsight I see that Arizona had a similar problem and let non EPA certified vehicles grandfather out so that they were legal, can that be done here?

Now it also looks like CNG for vehicle prices are about to skyrocket, please reopen docket 07-057-13 so that people that are doing the right thing by driving CNG vehicles are not punished.
